E<sup>3</sup>'s WhatsApp TeacherConnect Platform

The Minister of Education, Mrs.Motshekga, launched the E3's WhatsApp TeacherConnect Platform on 8 September 2020. This tool, TeacherConnect, has been created to empower and support teachers. It provides a convenient way to communicate and includes learning and teaching content, development and support resources. It also affords users the ability to connect, be a helpdesk, provide learning, mentoring and tracking through real-time dashboards.

What to do: Add the TeacherConnect contact number to your contact list on your mobile device: 0600603333. Open Whatsapp and then go to this contact. Type in Menu for the full list of services.

What is E<sup>3</sup>?

 ENTREPRENEURSHIP The website uses student-centred active learning (including projects and games) in the existing CAPS curriculum to assist teachers in preparing learners for the modern economy better. The goal of E<sup>3</sup> is to inspire 100% of learners to complete school, and 100% of these learners to study further, get a job, or start their enterprises which is the direct mandate of our department. E<sup>3</sup> also partners with Care for Education to provide training and educational resources to teachers in the Foundation Phase. In contrast, the New Leaders Foundation provides monitoring and evaluation for all partners' work.

Next BOATS virtual coding tournament

Dear Teacher

Please allow me to inform you of our virtual BOATS coding tournament we are planning for end of September, sponsored by the global company LexisNexis.

LexisNexis is a company that strives in advancing the Rule of Law with the fundamental belief that when information and technology is placed in the right hands, power is given to people to change the world. LexisNexis has sponsored this initiative with the objective of making a meaningful impact by educating disadvantaged children and pave way for kids that have an interest in coding. LexisNexis is a company that wants to use their expertise and available capabilities to help those that cannot help themselves and teach them a skill that could pave their future for the better.

What is BOATS?

It is an app we developed for Android phones to introduce learners to very basic coding concepts – learners need no previous coding experience to play. In addition to coding it also informs learners (through multiple choice questions and tips) about marine pollution. Because of Heritage Month, we will be adding some questions related to the different cultures in South Africa.

How do learners participate?

A day or two before the tournament I email / WhatsApp a flyer to teachers who then forward it to their learners. Learners then get a few days to play on the app, and to submit scores directly to a central database. My personal number is added to the flyer, so I am responsible for any assistance the learners need. There is no costs involved for learners and schools. Learners participate individually from anywhere.

What are the incentives?

- Laptop for the top performing learner
- Top performing learners win free Data vouchers worth R7000.00
- As part of a the #ShoesForChildren drive, the best participating school / NGO will receive 26 pairs of shoes to distribute to children in need of school shoes.
- If there is enough interest, we plan to offer a 4 week online coding club (introducing the coding language C#) to interested learners. They receive instructions via WhatsApp videos, and do their coding on a standard Android app.
- We will also be making a R10.00 donation towards the #ShoesForChildren project, for each participating learner.

How do schools enter?

Teachers can email me on jean.greyling@mandela.ac.za or WhatsApp to 0835544183. Let me know if you are interested in a Zoom session on Monday 14 September at 15:30 to introduce the whole tournament.

BOATS is part of a bigger project which has introduced over 20000 learners to coding through our different apps. It is all aimed at making coding fun!
