The 10 best job skills to have in South Africa – and the 10 worst

The World Economic Forum has published its 2020 Future of Jobs report, looking at how demand job types are expected to change over the next few years.

Over the past five years, the forum has tracked and identified the potential scale of worker displacement globally, due to technological automation and augmentation.

The group identified the following 20 job skills as seeing increasing demand over the next five years:

1. Data Analysts and Scientists
2. AI and Machine Learning Specialists
3. Big Data Specialists
4. Digital Marketing and Strategy Specialists
5. Process Automation Specialists
6. Business Development Professionals
7. Digital Transformation Specialists
8. Information Security Specialists
9. Software and Application Developers
10. Internet of Things Specialists
11. Project Managers
12. Business Services and Administration Managers
13. Database and Network Professionals
14. Robotics Engineers
15. Strategic Advisors
16. Management and Organisation Analysts
17. FinTech Engineers
18. Mechanics and Machinery Repairers
19. Organisational Development Specialists
20. Risk Management Specialists

The following 20 job skills are likely to see decreased demand over the next five years, largely due to automation:

1. Data Entry Clerks
2. Administration and Executive Secretaries
3. Accounting, Bookkeeping and Payroll Clerks
4. Accountants and Auditors
5. Assembly and Factory Workers
6. Business Services and Administration Managers
7. Client Information and Customer Service Workers
8. General and Operations Managers
9. Mechanics and Machinery Repairers
10. Material Recording and Stock Keeping Clerks
11. Financial Analysts

12. Postal Service Clerks
13. Sales Representatives, Wholesale and Manufacturing, Tech and Science Products
14. Relationship Managers
15. Bank Tellers and Related Clerks
16. Door-to-Door Sales, News and Street Vendors
17. Electronics and Telecom Installers and Repairers
18. Human Resource Specialists
19. Training and Development Specialists
20. Construction Labourers
